Water is fun!

If you don't believe it, look at these pictures of boating and water skiing on Shasta Lake.

But water is not only fun, it is one of our most valuable natural resources. If properly managed it will grow timber and crops. It can be harnessed by means of power plants to the motors of industry hundreds of miles away. It can furnish food and sport for fishermen and recreation for all. If mis-managed water can cause our rivers to flood, destroy our soil, ravish the fertility of the land and leave us without the biblical cup of cold water with which to refresh ourselves.

Shasta Lake, the key unit of the great California Central Valley Project, is part of the Shasta National Forest.

Shasta Dam, which backs up the waters of three great rivers to form the lake, was built and is operated and administered by the United States Bureau of Reclamation. This dam controls the amount of water which flows down the Sacramento River and in so doing develops 385,000 kilowatts of electrical power. By regulating the flow of water in the lower Sacramento River, floods are prevented in time of high water and during the dry season water is sufficient to supply irrigating canals, to maintain navigation and to keep out the encroachment of salt water from the ocean into the fertile so-called delta lands.

Shasta Dam, however, would soon be worthless if the vast timbered watersheds of the three great rivers lying within the Shasta National Forest should be destroyed by fire.

During the dry season fire lookouts constantly scan the more than 2,000,000 acres of rugged mountainous land lying within the Shasta National Forest. In spite of this and of the many fire crews strategically located and constantly mobilized for instant action when a fire is discovered scenes like the one depicted result thru failure of forest users to obey the common rules of forest safety. If the sign reminding people that it is illegal to throw away burning matches and tobacco had been in place when the fire occurred it might have prevented the destruction of many valuable acres of forest cover. Again it might not, some people are so careless!

Let's have fun in the forest, but also let's be careful.

SCOTT BAR 1890

This early photograph shows four wheels in the Scott River assisting in the recovery of gold from the fabulously rich bars at the town of Scott Bar. Pictures such as this are rare and, since it illustrates the methods used in gold recovery and shows the extent of the workings at various periods, it is considered a very welcome addition to the files kept at the Siskiyou County Museum.

Tentative identification of ownership has been made but it is subject to correction. The first two wheels were owned by a William Bennett, the next by a man named Crawford and the upper one by George McGuffy and Lew Falkenstein. The families of these men are probably still living somewhere in the county—McGuffys are still at Scott Bar and Falkenstein was an uncle of Dr. George Kleaver.

The difference in these units of equipment is quite noticeable. The first wheel is on a drive shaft that extends to a "China pump" set up in the hole to the left. This pump was crude but effective and is being used here to remove the water from what was known as Poorman's Bar. This bar was a community asset—the welfare department or unemployment insurance of the day. A man down on his luck would be permitted to work in this bar long enough to make a small stake when he must move along to make room for the next unfortunate case. It seems that this practice was quite common in all the diggings at that period.

The other wheels were for elevating the water to a flume which carries it to the site of the work where the gravel is washed in this same flume and returned to the river. It was always returned to the stream if there was another outfit below so that the full volume of the flow was available to each miner.

The Historical Society wishes to preserve these pictures in its files and appreciates information that may be available to confirm dates, ownerships and other data.

Space for the eight high schools has been apportioned again this year according to the size of the schools and the number of pages requested. Art for the frontispiece as well as all matter for the general literary section has been selected on merit by competent non-resident judges and the judges were instructed to appraise and rank the school sections solely for quality without regard to quantity.

There have been several White and Gold trophies since 1928. Yreka retired one trophy in 1928 after having won it three times over a period of years. Mount Shasta High School won permanently the second trophy in 1940, having won it the most times in a ten-year period. Schools to win the annual awards of the trophy during that period were: 1929 Yreka, 1930 Yreka, 1931 Mount Shasta, 1932 Weed, 1933 Mount Shasta, 1934 McCloud, 1935 Mount Shasta, 1936 Yreka, 1937 McCloud, 1938 Yreka and McCloud tied for first place, and in 1939 Mount Shasta, McCloud and Yreka tied for first place. Mount Shasta won the trophy permanently in 1940.

A trophy, which was presented in 1941, was to be perpetual until won three times by one school. The first award of this trophy was made to Yreka High School in 1941. The second award of this trophy was made to the McCloud High School in 1942. The award for 1943 was made to the Yreka High School. In 1944 the award of the trophy was made to the McCloud High School, and the permanent award of this trophy was made to the McCloud High School in 1945. The first award of the new trophy, pictured on the preceding page, was won by Yreka in 1946. The second award of this trophy was made to McCloud High School in 1947. The third award of the trophy was made to Mount Shasta High School in 1948 and Mount Shasta High School won it again in 1949. In 1950 the trophy was awarded to the Butte Valley High School. In 1951 the trophy was awarded to Yreka High School and in 1952 to McCloud High School. Tulelake High School won the award in 1953. This year the trophy was awarded to Weed for the largest number of points out of 100 distributed as follows:

Those Who Make the Play a Success

An audience watching actors in a new play sees only the final achievement resulting from long months of rehearsal and study. Those viewing the play do not realize that behind the scenes it is necessary to have competent writers and directors, experts in charge of costumes and make-up, stage technicians, and many other people, all of whom are influencing factors in the finished product.

If we look upon our high school life as a long and very important four-act play in which we, as students, are the principal actors, we find a similar situation. The general public sees in the student only the completion of many people's tasks. We are judged for what we are, but far too little attention is given to the principal, the faculty, and our fellow actors who are partially responsible for developing our characters and personalities.

However, even though it is necessary for guiding hands to prepare the way, we students must be willing to work and to learn our parts. In this small way we shall be helping to make the play a success and we shall be benefiting ourselves by becoming better actors.

There are certain principles which we must follow in order to play successfully the role in which we are cast. For example, an actor who learns only his specific lines and takes no interest in the complete meaning of the play will never be a true artist. In the same way, one who is interested only in himself, and does not bother to learn about his fellow actors will miss out on much of the fun and education he might have had. It is the same way with a student. There are always those who are labeled as "bookworms" and those who play the "lone-wolf" type. They may be shy or unhappy or perhaps they are just not interested; nevertheless, they are missing some of the best moments in the play. There are some students who, of course, go to the other extreme. They sail through high school laughing and playing, but they learn very little and they too lose much of the valuable knowledge they could have gained. We see then that it is up to the student to strike a happy medium. When this is accomplished, the theater which is high school will become a happier one for all involved.

One way to become well adjusted in this theater is to find the part in which you will be most happy and successful. Very few professional actors are versatile enough to play every kind of part and play it well. It is the same with the high school student. Most of us have different degrees of ability and separate traits of character which mark us for a certain type of part. For instance, there are always the students destined for stardom who shine out like bright stars in a clear sky. There are many others, clustered around them, who in themselves have excellent possibilities, and these second-leads will often journey on to success. In almost every play there will be character parts, and in the school there are usually students ready to fill this role. And what a dull and sorry story it would often be without them! There are actors who play bit parts in the theater and a great number of these are found in the school. Some of them are always reliable and ready to help; others are not so willing, but no play could do without them and certainly no school could. And occasionally we find that fortune smiles on these bit players in the theater and they rise to stardom. Just as sometimes in high school the mediocre student is "discovered," and a hidden talent is displayed and recognized.

We may see then that in the school, as in the theater, it is the combined efforts of a group of people working together which enables the play to grow. Without faculty guidance the students could never be prepared for future travels. Without the students and their interest there would be no incentive for the directors.

When we reach the climax in the last act and we are preparing to go on to another play in the tremendous drama of life, we realize the debt of gratitude that we owe to all those who helped in the theater which we call school.

Into the Sky

Winnie sat on the grass mat in front of her tepee. Gnarled, stubby fingers worked the reeds in and out as she wove her basket.

"Tell us a story, Grandmother. Come on, one like yesterday," two happy brown children skipped forward.

Winnie's head turned toward the sound; a smile crossed her wrinkled face. "Well, grandchildren," she started, "what about the time the Great Spirit saved me?"

"Yes, Grandmother. Yes, tell us," they chimed.

"Many moons ago, as a child, I lost my sight. Many thought that I would die young, that I would have no strength, or be killed by some wood creature. Yes, but instead of eyesight, I was given the gift of great hearing," she smiled, but soon a puzzled look crossed her face. "Listen, my children, do you not hear something?" she whispered with her fingers at her lips.

The husky boy rose to his feet, his young sister after him. "No, Grandmother," he smiled after awhile. "Maybe your hearing is not so good," he grinned at his sister.

"Yes, it is weaker, but still strong," she frowned. "Listen once more."

The boy listened again and smiled, but before he could speak he saw horses almost upon the village. "Riders, Grandmother," he gasped.

"The braves are returning to the village," she smiled.

"No, the leader rides a white horse," he said.

"Captain Riley! Quick, Little Eagle, warn the women and children fast. Run to shelter," she cried in a frightened tone.

"You come, too, Grandmother," he urged.

"Never mind! do as I say," she pleaded.

The children jumped to their feet. The warning was spread throughout the village. The women and children escaped, all except Winnie. She sat motionless on the mat, still working at her basket. The thundering beat of the horses' hoofs came closer. At last the noise ceased, all except the snorting of a horse.

"The crazy savages have left the confounded place," the leader began, as his white horse pawed the ground.

"They must have heard us coming," another replied.

At this time one of the men spied Winnie on the mat. "Well, what do you know? A big fat old squaw," he roared.

"Look again," the leader replied. "She's blind."

"Yes," another said. "Her eyes have no color, 'cept whites."

Winnie's fingers shook, but she kept working on her basket. "Must be deaf, too," one laughed.

"Let's show her some good ol' hospitality," Captain Riley suggested.

Two men seized her roughly and took her to the center of the village.

Winnie pleaded for mercy.

"Cut it, you squaw. I can't understand that kind of gab anyway," the captain snarled. He threw her to the ground. "Now find something to burn this thing up with. Let's get this over," he shouted.

"How about these mats and baskets and stuff, captain?" asked one of the men.

"Okay! that'll make good kindling," the captain replied in a gruff voice.

Winnie pleaded again. Her reply was a rough kick in the face. She lay bleeding as the baskets and mats were piled over her. A match was struck and the flames roared. The men stood around, but the odor was too unpleasant and they left, the fire roaring in the background.

Towards dusk, when nothing remained but the ashes of Winnie's body, the children and others returned. The search began for Winnie. Long after the last rays of the sun had fallen behind the mountains, they searched in vain.

Finally discouraged, with tears in their eyes, Little Eagle and his sister sat on a rock on the ground near the ashes.

"Do you s'pose the Great Spirit saved her again and took her away?" he gazed toward the sky.

"Uh-huh," replied his small sister, a tear rolling down her cheek.

A cool breeze fanned the dying embers as the children watched the few remaining ashes drift into the sky.

God, Who Touched Earth with Beauty

God, Who touchest earth with beauty,
Make my heart anew,
With Thy Spirit recreate me,
Pure and strong and true.

Like Thy springs and running waters,
Make me crystal pure,
Like Thy rocks of towering grandeur,
Make me strong and sure;

Like Thy dancing waves in sunlight,
Make me glad and free.
Like the straightness of the pine trees,
Let me upright be.

Like the arching of the heavens,
Lift my thoughts above;
Turn my dreams to noble action,
Ministries of love.

SECOND PLACE ESSAY

The Theater Which Is School

Imagination can lead people to many strange and beautiful places. And so it was that as I read the theme of this year's "White and Gold," I began to visualize the story of these, our youthful years.

High school is truly one of life's finest productions, with enough drama to make it spellbinding and spiced with comedy to make it interesting. It is a four-act play, complete with directors, managers, stars, and bit players.

As these four acts unfold, knowledge is gained, characters are molded, and personalities are developed, enabling the actors to face without stage-fright life's other dramas and comedies.

We must not forget that a production is not complete without an audience. This play has the world around it to view the scenes, but, although this audience can be expected to praise or criticize, it cannot be expected to understand fully the preparations and the work which goes behind the scenes.

It would be impossible to realize all the problems of the teachers who are the directors of this play. With them rests the job of preparing the inexperienced actors. The work of the faculty is not easy, for it deals with teaching fundamentals to all types of students, and, as is the rule with actors, each has a distinct temperament. It is the earnest desire of these directors that each actor make the most of the role in which he is cast; and, with this thought in mind, they set about their work.

If the play is a success, the directors share the glory, but if it should fail, the blame is unjustly theirs. This is a life of rewarding honors and heart-breaking failures. Theirs is a great responsibility.

The audience judges the actors by their performances. The parts they play form in the mind of the public a definite impression which is difficult to erase; therefore, the student actors must be careful to know and to perform these parts well, for their actions are being watched by critical eyes.

The stars of this production are the school leaders. To them goes the respect of the public as well as of their fellow workers. The spotlight is on these few during the entire play, but these actors must realize that stardom is not security. It can be lost through errors. Many stars have become "has-beens" because they failed to arrive at the high standards established by their fellow players. In order to preserve their present prestige, stars must constantly study and improve their roles. This calls for many sacrifices, but the results bring great personal satisfaction and rewarding acclaim.

The bit players and extras consist of students whose lives spice this production. These bit players are by no means failures. For them, this is the beginning. Many will become stars of other greater productions, because a small part often leads to a star role. It takes patience and the strong desire to attain a goal.

There are the comedians who know very little of their parts, but who are always ready to ad lib when an emergency arises.

Then there are the dramatic students whose every line is overacted, no matter how small the part.

Many other types of players can be mentioned, but each is an individual with a part which helps to bring about a polished production.

As is true in show business, each actor must have a manager to advise, encourage, and take personal interest in him. Parents have this important role, and they know and understand that a good manager can make a star. To them goes the joy of seeing their child become a professional.

Now the play is ready to start. Its joys and sorrows, laughter and tears, belong to the cast as well as the audience, for these are truly some of life's most cherished years. In this, the actor's first and last performance in high school, there is a mixture of teenage love with its seeming reality; hours of study for final examinations, suspense when grade cards are finally distributed; talking with friends in the well-known corridors; and many other scenes which must appear when we are growing up with others. Then as graduation day draws near, we arrive at the climax of this unforgettable production, memories of which will live forever in the hearts of all who had any part in its success.

The people who played their parts well, face unafraid the world of tomorrow, for they have taken with them the most valued treasure of youth—education. Theirs is the security which they found by performing well in the theater which is school.

SECOND PLACE SHORT STORY

Suddenly Life Was Exciting

I was trying to talk Mom and Dad into letting me do it all the time while I was getting ready for school and eating. Finally Dad said, "No, and that's final!" So I had to stop talking about it. I thought they were doing me a great injustice. After all, I just wanted to stay all night with Carol.

Mother said, "You just stayed all night with Sandra last night, and Gail the night before that!" I didn't answer because since Dad had said no there wasn't any use talking about it anymore.

I went into my room to get my school books. My room was simply a mess. My clothes were strung all over the room so that you could hardly get into it, and some of the pictures of Tony Curtis,

Bob Wagner, James Stewart, John Derick and some other of my favorite movie stars were coming down. I also had souvenirs—pennants, canes with monkeys on them, New Year's hats, and pom-poms—on my walls, and they were so dusty you coughed just being near them. I picked up several dresses and hung them in the closet. Perhaps if I cleaned my room Mother would take my side and persuade Dad to let me go. I closed a dresser drawer and picked up one of my best shoes from under a chair. I looked around for the other shoe. I didn't see it. I got down on my stomach and looked under the bed. There it was way back against the wall. I dropped the other shoe on the floor and sat there hugging my knees. I decided not to bother with the room. It was too big a job. I ought to be starting off to school anyway or I would be late.

It was a beautiful fall day. The air was so crisp and fresh it hurt your lungs to breathe it, but it smelled and tasted so good you wanted to just gulp it down. The leaves on the trees were just beginning to change color and they were a maze of red, rust and green. A few leaves came floating down when a little breeze stirred them. It was a lovely morning, and it made me forget about my unhappiness until I met Carol. Carol came running down the steps of her house. She had on a new red sweater. In her blond hair was a small red bow.

"Gosh! You look nice this morning, Carol," I said.

"Like my new sweater? Got it for my birthday. Say, can you come tonight? You just got to come! I got two new records. Real dreamy!"

I told her then.

"But kid, you just have to come! We've just got to think of some way you can come."

"No chance," I said. "My dad said 'No, and that's final.' When he says that he usually means it."

We walked silently along side by side for a few minutes. We scuffed through the bright leaves, kicking them up at every step.

Carol said, "Well, why don't you come anyway?"

"What do you mean, anyway?"

"Well, what will they do to you if you just didn't go home, but came to my house instead?"

I stopped walking. "Oh, gosh! I don't know. I never did anything like that before."

Carol stopped too. "Why don't you try it and see what they will do? Probably won't be much. My parents just talk. They say they will do this and that and then they forget what they have said and don't do anything."

I still hesitated. Carol started on. "Well come on, kid," she said. "You think about it during school. But you really ought to decide to come. We could have lots of fun, and I'll just bet they won't do much to you."

I still hesitated. What would they do? It would be interesting to find out. My heart beat faster at the thought. I ran a few steps to catch up with Carol.

"I'll do it," I said.

Carol looked at me with new respect. "You will!" she said. We both laughed. We felt like conspirators and life was suddenly exciting.

Carol and I were upstairs in her room listening to her records when the telephone rang. Carol's father answered it. We could hear him talking in the hall below. Leaving the record playing we slipped out to the head of the stairs to listen.

"I'll tell her," we heard him say.

Carol looked at me and I looked at her. Carol's eyes were opened wide, and she was biting her lip. Suddenly I wished I hadn't done it. I was no longer excited, just frightened.

I didn't wait for Carol's father to tell me that the call had been from my father and that he wanted me to come right home. I knew that that was what the call had been about. I went back into Carol's bedroom and picked up my coat and school books.

The record had come to the end and was whirling around and around in the last groove. Carol didn't seem to notice it, but it annoyed me so I walked over and turned it off.

"Gosh, kid, maybe you shouldn't have come," she said. "I'm sort of sorry I suggested it."

I didn't answer her.

I didn't walk very fast on the way home, but it didn't seem to take me long to get there. All the lights in the house were burning. I stood outside the gate for a few minutes. I could see Mom and Dad sitting in the living room. Dad had a paper in his hands, but he didn't turn the pages as if he were reading it. Finally he looked at his wrist watch and got out of his chair. I started up the walk. My bare hands were numb from the cold. I had forgotten to put on my gloves. I stopped and got them out of my pocket. I put my books down on the cement walk so that I could put on my gloves.

Suddenly a path of light slanted across the walk and onto the grass of the front yard. Dad was standing in the doorway.

"What are you doing?" he asked.

I couldn't speak. My tongue felt too big for my mouth. I held up my hands with the gloves half on one of them. I took it off again and put them in my pocket. Dad stepped aside as I walked toward the door. The house was too warm. I felt sufficated.

"Go on into the living room," Dad said. Just inside the living room I stopped again. Mother looks scared, I thought. Dad came around behind me and moved over to his chair. When he sat down he kept his hands on the arms. His finger tips were white from holding onto the chair arms so hard. I could feel my heart going thump, thump, thump. Dad spoke to me but my heart was making so much noise in my ears that at first I didn't hear what he said. When I did hear, he was saying " . . . that's what you need but I feel that because I am so angry I would probably whip you too hard. So you will go to your room, and, except for the time when you are in school, you will stay in there for the next two weeks. Your mother will leave your meals outside your door."

Dad picked up his paper and held it in front of his face. I knew I was dismissed but I did not seem able to move. Carol had said her parents just talked. Well, so had mine. At least Dad had talked. I looked at Mom. She was looking at her hands, which were smoothing out a handkerchief on her knee. They smoothed it and smoothed it and smoothed it.

The two weeks of confinement ahead of me were sort of a letdown. I don't know what I had expected but not that. There wasn't anything happening during the next two weeks that I wanted to do. It was going to get boring up there alone in my room but—. Suddenly I felt like giggling. I would get my room cleaned now.

SECOND PLACE POEM

Snow Storm

Announced by all the trumpets of the sky
Arrives the snow, driving o'er the fields,
Seems here to alight, the whited air
Hides hills and woods, river and sky,
Veils the farmhouse at the garden's end.

Drifting down, it stops the courier's feet,
Delayed, all friends shut out, the housemates sit
Around the radiant fireplace, enclosed,
As the snow comes down, silently, they sit
In the seeming endless privacy of storm.

Come, see the snow's soft masonry
As it builds its peaks, topping everything
Curving gently over stake and tree,
Piling up, here and there,
Caring not for number or proportion.

When hours are numbered, the world its own
It leaves; the sun appears revealing soft-curved art,
As it looks back, seeing what was built,
The mad night wind's work begins
The frolic architecture of the snow.

MIXED CHORUS

Mr. Perce also directs the mixed chorus. They performed jointly with the band in their fall concert and will do so again in the spring. The chorus has only appeared publicly once so far this year. However they have several programs planned in the near future. The mixed chorus and the band are both looking forward to the Music Festival which is being held in Yreka this year.

B A N D

This year, under the direction of Tom Pierce, the band has presented a fall concert and they plan another in the spring. They have also added a great deal to various school assemblies and home basketball games with their musical presentations conducted by student leaders. Mr. Pierce and the band members are working very hard toward their goal of being able to buy new uniforms this year.

Review of Year's Sports

The Honkermen of Tulalake rolled out a 5 win - 3 loss record for the 1953 football season. The team's only losses were to Merrill and Henley by one touchdown and to undefeated Modoc, 12 to 0. The Honker Machine pushed through grid-iron victories over the K. U. Wildcats, Sacred Heart, Bonanza, Yreka, and Mount Shasta.

In basketball the cagers have done equally well. The A's carry a 11 win - 6 loss record while the B's have posted a 14 win - 3 loss tally.

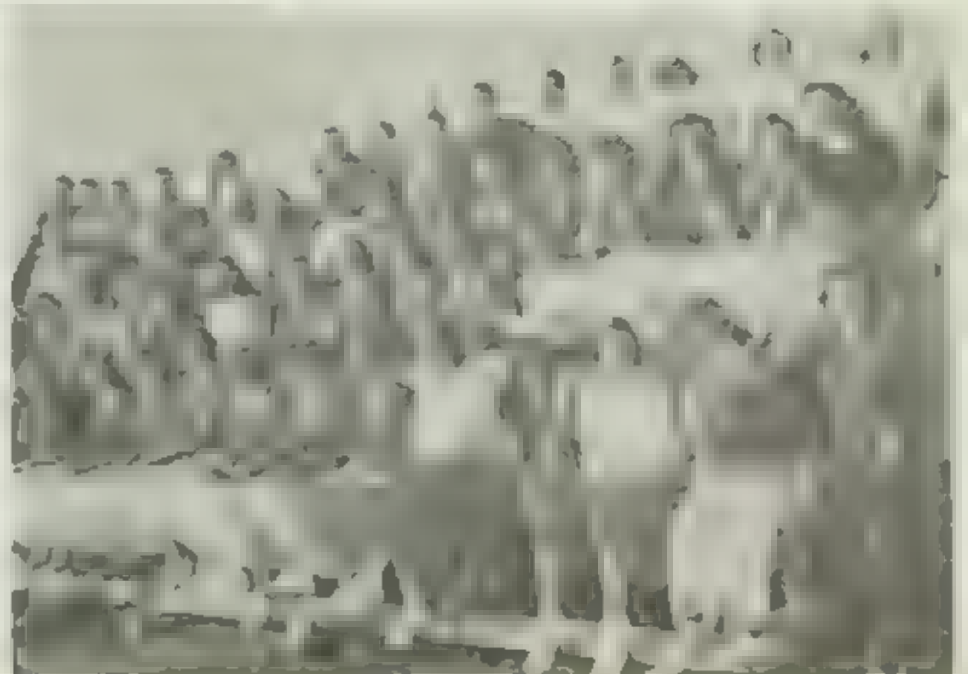

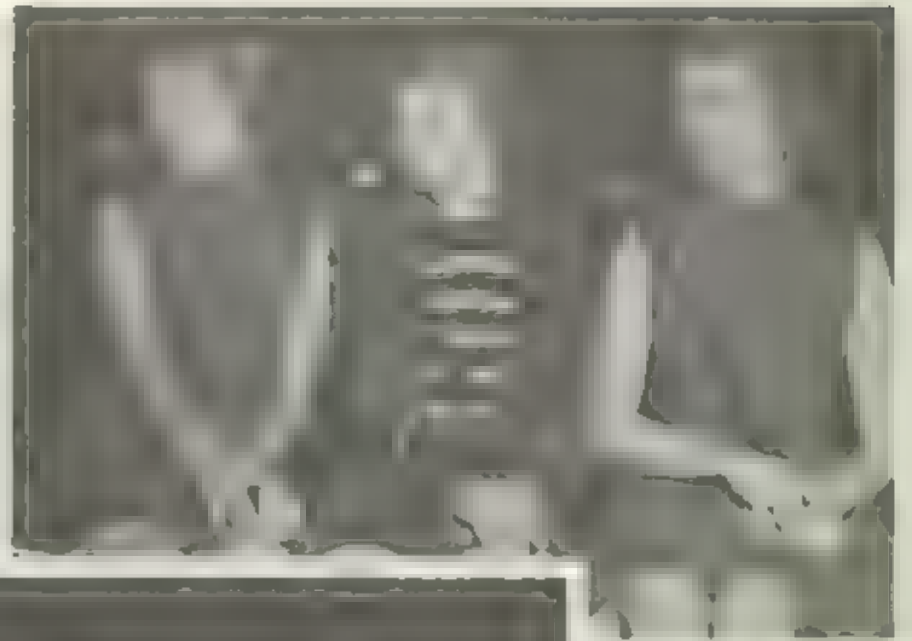

The "53" Track squad saw one of the largest turnouts in the history of the school. The cinder-men racked up a "C" division championship and scored very high in three other meets. New records were set by Duffy Adams in the 110 yard low hurdles and the 440 yard relay team, Ken Ablard, Lewis Davis, Bill Weir, and Carl Creswell. Carl Creswell cracked a new mark in the 330 yard dash at the Susanville Invitational.

Mile star, Fritz Anthes, set what may be a long standing record in the annual Turkey Trot running 3 miles in 17 minutes, 4 seconds.

Baseball started slow due to bad weather. The diamondmen came up with a 2 win - 9 loss record.

"WHITE AND GOLD"

Under the direction of Editor-in-Chief Barbara Ewing, a large staff worked long hours in editing the '54 "White and Gold."

June Rossetto, sales manager, and her sales staff, pictured below, did well in selling advertising and in selling copy claims.

Donna Dick was publications editor and typed all "White and Gold" pages on copy paper.

"White and Gold" advisers are Mrs. Vandeventer and Miss Scott.

'53 FOOTBALL

The football team this year did not start out with many prospects, but the fine coaching of Coach Mort Kaer and Chet Marshall brought the team around into a pretty fair outfit. Fred Bernardi and Jack Harris helped the football team in their spare time and Mort Kaer, Jr., was a great help in coaching the quarterbacks of our team. We won championship in 1953 and, of course, kept Yreka from getting the ax.

DIRECTOR WARREN "POP" BEHNKE

The Yreka High School Band, consisting of approximately 60 members, is quite well known in Siskiyou County and other sections of the state. The group takes many trips during the school year to various towns and has rated quite high at the festivals. Warren Behnke ("Pop" as he is fondly called) does an excellent job of directing.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

Early one morning right after I had opened my beauty shop a customer came in for a much needed beauty treatment. This early customer proved to be none other than the famous lap-sitting secretary, Clela Miller, one of my former classmates of B.V.H.S.

She and I got to talking about what had happened to our classmates when we graduated twenty years ago in 1954.

Through the famous Miss Miller, I heard that her brother-in-law, Allen McIntyre, was now pitcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers. The three little McIntyre's entirely approve of their daddy's position.

She also informed me that Keith Winebarger, the world's most famous dude, is running competition with Yosemite Sam in his newest TV show, "High Noon In Dorris." The manager and producer of this world known show is none other than the famous D. A. Bentley, the multi-millionaire oil king of Butte Valley.

I then informed her that Dick Selberg had dyed his skin so he could play basketball with the Harlem Globetrotters. Dick also broke up the former Marilyn Monroe's marriage and they are planning their marriage in early spring.

Miss Miller asked me if I had seen the world famous woman wrestler on TV last night and had recognized her as Mary Gerlt, also a graduate of the class of "54." Lois Alexander, Mary's manager and promoter, informed the audience that Miss Gerlt has never married as all the men were afraid of her marvelous biceps.

Bob Carr and his brother-in-law, Earl Carson, are partners in the block-long supermarket in Bray. They now own half of Butte Valley in which they grow their own products. Their families help them by tending to their fields.

Lorene Bell now lives in San Francisco so she can keep an eye on a sailor stationed at Alameda. She is earning her living by being a model for a TV commercial.

George Reese is now in Bermuda with his "talking trumpet." His wife, Virginia, is singer for his famous orchestra.

Archie Stumbaugh is night club and gambling casino owner in Las Vegas. As a star on his floor show you see Wilma Kindle. Wilma transferred from Hollywood to Las Vegas after her broken romance with Tab Hunter.

As I was finishing Clela's beauty treatment, Murel Nelson, head garbage collector for the exclusive Butte Valley Garbage Disposal Company, dropped in to collect his bill.

If I may put in a short commercial, if you are ever in Butte Valley and need a beauty treatment (and who in BV doesn't) be sure to drop in at "Bev's Beauty Salon." (Beverly Swearingen)

"C" Basketball

The Butte Valley "C" team, after getting off to a slow start, finally started to play together and ended their season by winning their last three games. With many of the same boys back next year, the "C" team should do lots better.

BUTTE VALLEY HIGH SCHOOL

The Butte Valley "D" team, made up entirely of Freshmen and two Sophomores, started out with several early wins, only to have illness and scholastic difficulties catch them at mid-season. Playing several games with only five players, the boys did exceedingly well. With the possibility of most of the "D's" remaining next year, the boys hope to do lots better.

KENNY LUTTRELL

I would like to introduce to you the stars of our theatre, "The Seniors."

All through our four years of high school most of us have been part of the same cast

We have now completed the four acts of our high school years. They have been hard acts for most of us, but enjoyable ones.

From the first act to the fourth we have sponsored many parties and dances. One of these dances was the annual Junior Senior Prom. We have also helped earn many of the trophies in our trophy case and have in general tried to make each of our acts a success

When we began our first act there were thirteen in the cast. During the rest of the years leading up to our fourth and final act there have been a few of the stars who departed from our presence. Now there are only eight stars left to put on the final performance in June.

JUNIORS, The Understudies

Now we present the Juniors, who are the understudies for the Seniors.

They have been training for the past three years to take over where the Seniors leave off.

In their first three years of high school they have sponsored many activities which have been very successful.

Bobbie Madron, being the only girl, has taken over the job of organizing all the activities that take place in the Junior Class.

The Junior Class has shown themselves capable of taking over the Seniors' parts in the past, so the Seniors can leave knowing that the school is left in good hands.

SECOND ROW: Alice Hanni, Phyllis Evans, Gayle Seymour, Sandra Luttrell, Marilyn Fowler, Joyce Mayes, Cath. Anne Townsend, Cynthia Besoin

The Sophomores are in the spot-light again this year. Being the stage-hands for the upper-classmen has been a tough job. They have gone ahead and sponsored numerous parties, many of which have been successful. They have great promise for the future

FIRST ROW — to r. Adviser Mrs. Lynn Alice Harrison and Joan Landrum, Nadine Hovenden, Karen Copeland, Mary Jo Griffith

These newcomers to our ranks, even though they have made a few mistakes, have fit into their parts well.

They have proved to be very trustworthy and can always be depended upon.

They have a lot of good material for the future and we hope they will put it to good use.

Now we have our Band. Did you ever hear of a play without music? Afraid not. Our band, under the direction of Mr. Carlson, help to make all our programs a success as well as enjoyable

This year the glee has entertained, not only the faculty and students, but the whole community. They helped out a great deal with the Christmas Festival and many others.

SECOND ROW: Mr. Carlson, Phyllis Evans, Alice Hammond, Toni Wood, Gayle Seymour, Marilyn Fowler, Karen Copitzky, Sandra Luttrell, Joyce Marshall, Cynthia Tibbs

Yell Leaders

No play can be presented without a little pep and steam. So we have our yell-leaders, who keep everyone in good spirit and add pep and go-power to all our activities.

G. A. A.

The girls have a good athletic program this year. They have lots of team-work and spirit. Always willing to do their very best to help their team win

"F": Phyllis Evans, Marilyn Fowler, Karen Copitzky, Cynthia Besoain, Bobbie Madron, Alice Hammond, Marilyn Griffith, Joan Landrum

"J": Toni Wood, Nadine Hovenden, Carol White, Alice Hanni, Joyce Marshall, Sandra Luttrell, Gayle Seymour, Nancy Hovenden

Football

This year with most of his regulars gone Coach Schleusner had to build up a new team with inexperienced players. Even so the team did well winning one game and losing two others by only one or two points.

Captains

These two players have been chosen to be captains of the baseball and football teams. Kenny Luttrell is captain of football and Wayne Evans is captain of the baseball team.

WAYNE

Baseball

Our baseball team, of course, has not played any games as yet. Most of the players on this year's team were on last year's team, so with the support of the newcomers we should have a good baseball team. Last year Fort Jones High School had a Co-championship baseball team.

"A" Basketball

This year's "A" team consists mostly of students who have never played basketball before. Even so they have shown very good improvement in the season and we are sure they will keep right on improving.

Captains

These two players, Ronnie DeRosa and Bill Mittan have been chosen to be captains of the "A" and "B" basketball teams.

BILL

"B" Basketball

This year's "B" team should be in fine shape with the entire first string back, some of whom have had two and even three years of experience. Thus far they have done very well and we hope they keep up the good work.

Tennis

Here we have the students trying out for tennis. Whether they become champions or not they have contributed their time and that is real sportsmanship

Stars

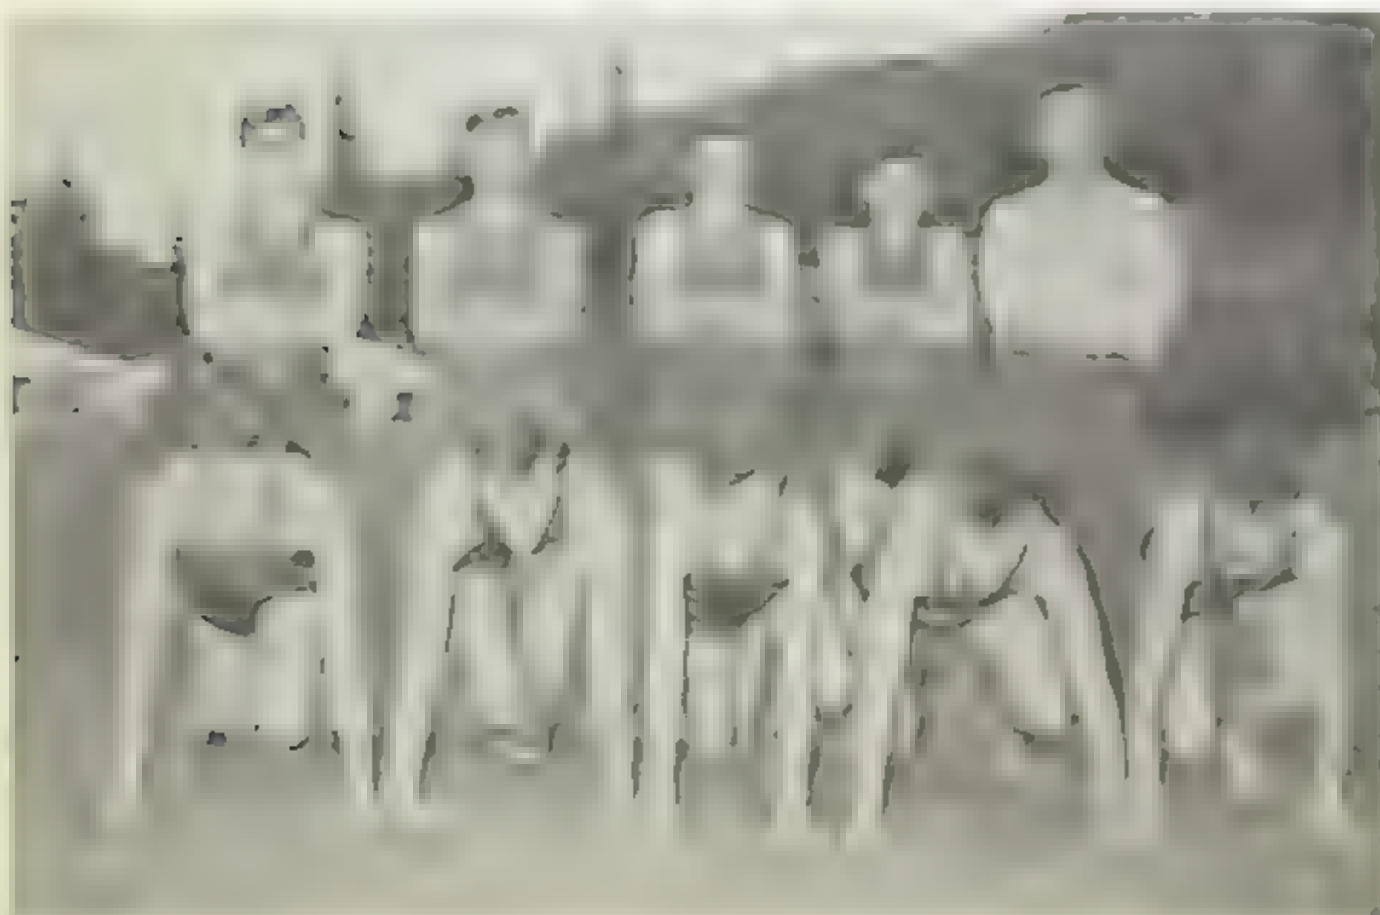

The outstanding players in the tennis field are Nancy Hovenden and Bill Mitan. Bill won the county Championship in his first three years of high school, and Nancy won the same in 1953

WAR WHOOP

Every other week the staff puts out over 600 copies of our "War Whoop." This paper, because we have no local newspaper, prints the local news as well as school news. Our subscribers cover all parts of the United States, former students or residents of Happy Camp, who want to know what goes on in our town and school. The merchants of our town support our project by ads. The staff wants to take this opportunity to thank everyone who helps us make this paper a success.

THE STAGE IS SET

The theater is empty, yet in a short while it shall be filled with expectancy as we, the Seniors of 1954, go into the last act of our performance.

Soon the play will be over, the rehearsals, the errors, are a part of the production. Now, we enter into the real thing. Now, we test ourselves. The prompters won't be there behind the curtain but we will remember what they have taught us.

These years of practice, how tiresome, yet how adventuresome they have been. The daily routine of books, recitations, and tests, which we needed but didn't always want, helped us more than we realized. On the other hand, we had a part in many activities. The dances, parties, plays, and banquets, all were fun and helped us even farther along the road of experience. So we must admit that even if we complained, we really hated to miss any of it.

As we take a long look back before we set out for our various destinations, we know we won't forget all that we have learned and the friends we have made during these years. No matter what the future brings to us, we are on our own. We may go on to college, we may join the armed forces, or establish a home, but whatever it is, we are prepared for it. We are no longer children. Another chapter is over.

And now as the production draws to a close, and we prepare to take our final bows, we are working harder than ever to make the play a success.

"THE LAST ACT CROWNS THE PLAY."

Alumni Hold Reunion

by Lotta Blow

McCLOUD, Siskiyou Co.—AP—

"We, the class of 1954, having enjoyed to the utmost our good fellowship of the last twelve years, do solemnly swear we will assemble again in the year 2000."

Such was the pledge that was made by the Senior class of McCloud High School when they were graduated in 1954.

Now, the time is here, and last Tuesday night the reunion was held at the Mountain House, 4.03 miles west of McCloud.

This is a condensed report of the meeting taken from the secretary's minutes. It was interesting to note the different occupations of the various members of the group.

Mary Franklin and Bud Hamilton are presently in the Iron and Steel business—Mary irons while Bud steals. Joe Anderson works in a candle factory catching the drip from the candles. Harry Mosher is up for a twenty-year stretch for robbing Joe of his candle drips. Roger Ratcliffe has been having a little hard luck also. He is out job-hunting, having just been fired from the Mt. Shasta Weather Bureau.

But some of the class have done a little better; for example, Joe Bonneville, heavyweight champion of the world, was carrying with him his advertisements for Bulldog Beer, as a favor to Adrian Bortolin. Adrian works in the Bulldog Beer factory, putting the hop in the hops. Richard Friday has quite a hopping business these days, too. He is part-owner of a flea circus. It is very successful, barker Alan Carter drawing huge crowds to it with his mob psychology. Another student of the human mind is Dolly Eggert, the now famous psychiatrist. She brought along for company, her guinea pig, Marcia Kellar.

Lucille Pellegrino, who started working as a model, played it smart by marrying the boss, and now spends her time commuting between her two fashion shops in Paris and New York. Linda Van Keuren is another business woman who is doing nicely. She has taken over the Mt. Shasta Florist Shop. Jim Wiley is successful also. He owns a world-famous beauty salon for poodles. Earl Whitlow works there, giving manicures and permanents—really putting on the dog! And speaking of dogs, it was discovered that Dolores Nobili has set up a juvenile home for stray dogs, cats, and kids. Shirley Kirk runs an institution of similar sort, being Principal of McCloud High School. Ever since she was office girl there, it had been rumored that she'd make it some day. Thorah Nicholas assists her there, as Vice-Principal and Dean of Girls.

Shirley Weis and Gene Toreson are managing well, as torchsinger and bartender, respectively, at Toreson's Hi-n'-Low Club. They were looking for their old friend, Margaret Flathman, and discovered that she has settled down considerably since her younger days. She is quite a meek, efficient housewife now. Her husband, Robert Friday, has also changed a great deal. People don't recognize him anymore. His newest hobby is airplanes! Another one that goes in for speed is Alfred Geiger, who is the Hot-Rod Racing Champ of the West Coast. Alfred didn't know that he was sitting next to Lowell Cossairt, traffic cop. Lowell is just now, though, taking care of the parking meters in McCloud—he always did like to park.

Lowell was telling the group of the incident that occurred in the McCloud Court the other day. It seems that Angie Scalise was hauled into court by Lorraine Zannotto, because she had infringed on Lorraine's rights. She had set up a theater between Lorraine's theater and the Pool Hall, so naturally she got all the trade. They had a pretty rough argument and now they are both waiting to be bailed out.

There was another who couldn't make it to the reunion, Dorothy Dowell. She is very busy these days, being the star of Broadway's most recent hit, "Ponderosa." Another outstanding personage who has sprung up out of the class of '54 is Ralph Ramirez. He is feeling pretty proud of himself lately, having just been voted "Bachelor of the Year."

Johnnie Lacy, Senator from California, and Jackie Wolfe, Good-Will Ambassador to Russia, at the meeting fell into an argument as to whether or not we should admit Mars as a state. Joy Mae Kite, well-known debater, was delighted to donate some tips on the art of debating. Don Smith, newsboy, towards the end of the meeting, brought in the Semi-Daily McCloud Paper, and there on the front page was Claudio Fabbrini! He had just been elected, by a narrow margin, batboy for his favorite team, the Dodgers!

As a highlight to the reunion, a speech was given by the Governor of California, Bob Buchanan. He congratulated the class on their many accomplishments. The meeting was closed by the Reverend Louis Gaunt, who led the group in the old favorite, "All Hail To McCloud." And so ended the reunion of the most successful class on record. Good Luck, Class of '54!

We have shown the school that we were able to take in our stride such things as the broken eggs, gooey lipstick, and poisonous potions of the first day of school. We went through the initiation before the faculty and student body, accepted the hardships and new ways of high school life, and still came out smiling. An outstanding social event of our school year was the Freshman return dance on November 11. In athletics our boys helped win two championships, the C's and D's. We have many students on the Honor Roll and California Scholarship Federation.

DRILL TEAM

McCloud High School has started something new this year under the direction of Mrs. Gerlicher, a drill team of thirty girls. Head majorette Dolores Nobili and her assistant majorettes, Phyllis Ahlenstorf and Karen Ricci, have done much toward making the drill team a success.

Their uniforms are designed after the traditional McCloud High School middy style. The head majorette wears white shorts and middy, with a purple and gold collar, gold tie, and purple and gold hat. Her assistants wear the same except for gold collars and purple ties. The team uniform is similar except that they wear purple shorts instead of white.

The team marched for the first time at the home basketball games to the accompaniment of drums. The groundwork for the drill team has been laid by this year's work, paving the way for better drill teams.

The Log

This year's "Log" staff had many interesting experiences with color printing and different tasks that were new to us. The hard working members received compliments on the attractiveness and originality of the issues.

We hope that our readers enjoyed our work as much as we enjoyed doing it

The members of the White and Gold staff have worked hard to meet the deadline and to make this year's section of the annual an attractive one. Despite the fact that we have worn out one typewriter, gone in debt buying aspirin, erasers, and new wigs, and worried our advisor no end, we feel it has been great fun, but what an experience!

"A" Team

The Logger A's this year experienced a season of bad luck. Many times they have looked as though they were going to win but although they tried hard and were in high hopes before each game they just couldn't seem to do it. They lost several of their games by only a few points. As we go to press, they are still expecting to win at least one game.

Our B's looked as though they were going to roll over every team they met, that is, until they met Weed. Winning both nonconference and conference games and having a clean slate, our B's were defeated by Weed's Cougars. As we go to press, they have a chance to be in on a three-way tie for the county championship, but to do this they must win their remaining games.

"C" Team

Although our C's didn't win the cup outright, they are co-champs with Dunsmuir. Winning six of seven conference games they displayed a promise of strength for the varsity in one or two years. Showing that they could win when the chips were down, they defeated Dunsmuir, who had been undefeated up until then, to tie for the championship. This was the first C-classification award for McCloud in a good number of years. We are hoping next year that they won't let up, and win the cup outright.

The "little" Loggers brought home the D team championship in fine fashion. The cup was captured by winning seven and losing no games in an undefeated season. This was the first team in four years to have undisputed possession of first place. The last time that such a record was made was when McCloud C team were champs in 1951. Many of our Seniors were on that team. With a few holdovers and replacements from grammar school, we're looking forward to a promising coming year.

SENIOR HISTORY

Graduation day in June will end school days for many of us, although some will go on to college to complete their education.

We came to Mount Shasta High School in September, 1950 as a class of 30 students, and, we are leaving with only 25 students.

We well remember our debut to high school four long years ago when we were welcomed with a Freshman initiation. To prove that we were good sports we honored the Sophomores with a Return Dance a week later.

Soon we settled down to the routine of school work and elected class officers who were: George Martin, President; Gary Price, Vice President, Mary Ramshaw, Secretary, and Helen Schmid, Treasurer. Our Advisors were Mrs. Astmann and Mr. Manley.

In 1951 we had one member on Student Council, one in 1952, four in 1953 and ten in 1954. The top three positions in Student Council this year were held by Seniors.

On the White and Gold staff in the year of 1951, we had one member. In 1952 we had two members; in 1953, nine; and in 1954 we had eleven members on the staff.

All through our four years in high school we have had seven active members in band, under the leadership of Mr. Day. In 1952-53 a drill team was organized with Nadine Lark as Majorette.

Most of the girls have been active for four years in Girls' League, Pep Club and G. A. A. The Senior girls of 1954 have taken many championships in all sports of G. A. A., all through their four years.

The boys have worked hard in becoming good athletes in football, basketball, baseball and track. The first string A team this year was made up of all Senior boys. Most of the boys belong to the Lettermen's Club.

Last year as upperclassmen many interesting things happened. We had concessions at home games to build up our treasury. We were very pleased with our rings which arrived shortly after Christmas. We put on a Junior class play entitled, "Strictly Formal." The play was a big success. The proceeds along with the rest of the money we earned through the years went to put on a Junior Prom in honor of the 1953 graduating Seniors. The theme was "Star Dust." The dance was well attended.

This year as Seniors, we added many pleasant and enjoyable memories to our list. We edited a Senior paper in May and enjoyed a Senior Sneak Day much to the disillusionment of the Juniors. On May 28, 1954 we were honored with the Annual Prom, given by the Juniors, as a farewell dance.

We looked forward with great anticipation to the Banquet following Baccalaureate and Graduation, June 10, 1954, when we all said farewell to Mt. Shasta High School.

We the Class of '54 . . . Tomorrow?

"Good evening, ladies and gentlemen, this is your DXRX television announcer, Lester Duffy, bringing to you this evening the greatest array of your top world figures ever gathered under one roof. To start the evening off on the right track, I would like to present one of the all-time heavy-weight champions in the boxing world who returned undefeated after 307 fights at the age of 33. He will go down in ring annals on a par with Jack Dempsey and Joe Louis, I give you—Don Minard. He is accompanied tonight by that talented, television and screen star, who has just finished a two year run on Broadway in the stage play, "The Massacre at Panther Meadows," that delightful toast of the entertainment world Annette "Peachy" Astmann. The play in which "Peachy" has had such great success was written and directed by the world famed novelist, playwright, and man about town who has written such books as the Pulitzer Prize winning novel, "How Dull Was My Butter Knife," also such works as "Chalk Up, Men Don't Shoot Till You See the Whites of Their Eyes." I give you that red-headed James Chambers.

"On my left looking like something that was sent for and couldn't come, is without a doubt one of the greatest men in the business world today in the field of gas, oil, and accessories. It is my pleasure to introduce Mr. Bill Douglass. He now controls all gas, oil and accessories west of the Mississippi River.

At this time I wish to eject a note of sadness. One of us will be absent tonight because of a very unfortunate accident in the field he has no peer; he is known far and wide as the greatest Zither picker in North America and surrounding areas. Last night he broke his A string and now is flying to New York where the needed string will be made. We will now have 30 seconds of silence in due respect to Maestro Jack Gardner.

"Just this morning I was able to contact two of the most stimulating personalities in the field of astronomy who became interested in this particular field of endeavor. They have become such great successes due to the high school which they attended along with such other great world figures. It is now time to introduce Miss Helen Schmid and Miss Nadine Lark.

"A word from our sponsor, "Have you tried 'Cervelli's Hot Pastrami?' Just dial 3443 and before you know it Phyllis Cervelli, that pretty red-headed girl, will be at your door. Thank you.

"One of my sponsors just gave me the go-ahead sign to spare no expense in bringing to you this next fabulous figure, and, when I say figure, the word fabulous is really not big enough to cover the figure. I give you all 395 lbs. of one of the world's greatest ballet dancers, whose toes can twist and turn like kgs. queens, and jacks, the star of the Ballet Russe, Sir Robert Stifley.

"Again, on my right, I call upon a man who put our town on the map, a man who is recognized as one of the leading map makers of all time. I present Leroy Walters.

"One of our leading sports figures of this class is engaged in football. He is the one who has made the all-time, ALL-TIME TEAM who played his greatest games for one of the greatest teams that ever participated in professional football, The Mott Tigers. I give you Joe 'The Jet' Chandon. He has been compared with such greats as Crazy Legs Hirsh, Leon Hart, Otto Graham, and also that great, great quarterback from Nebraska that piledriving Robert Chrome Dome Manley. Joe 'The Jet' Chandon owes a great deal to that fine and wonderful coach who has put in many hard hours for all of us from '54. At this time I would like to thank Coach Buhler.

"Next to Joe 'The Jet' Chandon sits another sports figure who has done himself proud, none other than the master of the double skip rope and yo-yo, a man who takes a back seat for no one because he will only ride in a coupe. He has played for the leading basketball teams of the nation, such as the 'Tuscaloosa Terrors', 'The White Horse Summit Mustangs,' and last year's champs, 'The Black Butte Bullies.' I would like to introduce that all American basketball player, Jerry 'Hatchet Nose' Vandervort. Jerry was coached in his professional years by that screen basketball star, Herr Dr. Ross, who was a former Cal-Poly basketball star.

"The music tonight is furnished through the courtesy of Martin's Married Men, under the able direction of the fabulous man of the music world, who blows the meanest trumpet in the west, who has written the well known song, 'Toot Hot Tonight, George, the Man Comes for the Horn in the Morning.' I give you George Martin.

"Another word from one of our sponsors. 'Close your eyes and dream,' that is the slogan of the Christeson Mattress Company, the home of the lumpy mattress to get rid of mothers-in-law, your mattress maker and mine, Dora Christeson. Thank you.

"And now we have a girl who has done herself proud and who has also made the class of '54 very proud to have her one of us. After graduating from school, she was elected Mrs. America, and now she is a very famed actress in Hollywood. She has won many academy awards in the movie world. I now would like to introduce to you Mary Ramshaw.

"Two more modest world figures with us tonight are that pair who have out-shone Abbott and Costello, Martin and Lewis, those masters of mirth who have just finished a 32 week engagement at Slick's Poolatorium, the renowned show palace of Mt. Shasta, Frank Cantrell and Paul Meneni.

"Coming late, as usual, but always arriving, are those two wonderful people who have made us laugh for years, the lovable radio pair Whiz and Bang, who took over where others left off in giving us the trials and tribulations of two famous Paris designers, Marlene Clark and Pat McCoilian, with their agent and model, Miss Carolie Dery.

"There is one of us who has not been a top world figure although she is married to the sole owner of the Southern Pacific Railroad. She has made a great success of herself as a housewife and mother. She is tops in all the social circles, my pleasure to give to you the mother of six of the loveliest children I have ever seen, Mrs. Dixie Ceccato.

"We will now be entertained by that wonderful team of adagio dancers, who have just completed a tour of Europe and the Klamath River Area, who have defied gravity and everyone else in their interpretive dancing, Gary Price and Barbara McMaster.

"The cost of this impressive gathering has been made possible through the courtesy of Big Jim Sutherland, owner of KXXR and another of the members of the Class of '54.

"Before our program comes to an end I would like to introduce to you those who made it possible for all of us to get to the top, in each of our fields. I bring to you Mr. Hoffman who was the very generous and gentle principal of Mt. Shasta High School; Mr. Graves who taught us all our scientific knowledge; Mr. Manley, he is the one to whom we took all our troubles, Mrs. Astmann who has worked so hard for us; Mrs. Letcher, with her easy going manner, who made it easy for us; Mr. Buhler and Mr. Ross who have taught us the meaning of sportsmanship; Mrs. Floratos, the good looking P.E. teacher; Mrs. Mullendore, the Home Economics teacher; the man and woman who cleaned up after us, Andy and Mrs. Anderson, a great couple, Mr. Gerard who ran the shop; Mr. Day who made our lives musical, and last of all that fine teacher who taught English, Spanish, and History, and who has hounded me to do this program, Mrs. Melo.

We cherish all of our teachers who helped us along the way, but we always teased them with this saying, "Old teachers never die, they just look that way."

"I just got the high sign from the assistant manager of KXXR and a former member of our class, Bill Oxner, to sign off. So here goes.

"On behalf of all of us from '54, we hope that next year will be even more eventful and successful for all of us."

Signing off: I remain your Mt. Shasta Correspondent.

Our various activities this year began with the election of class officers. Those elected at our first meeting were President, Philip Huntingdon, Vice President, Frank Ball, Secretary, Sandra Tracy, and Treasurer, Lorraine Ceccato.

Our two big events of the year, the Junior Prom and Junior Play, were both very successful. Speaking of big events, our class rings arrived in time to show them off to our friends at the Harvest Ball last November.

Many of our students have been on the Honor Roll as well as two C. S. F. members. All of our girls were in G. A. A. and many belonged to Girls' League and Pep Club. Not to be left out are our boys who made a fine showing in all sports (Football, Track, Tennis, Baseball and Basketball). Also three of our students were on the Student Council.

A combination of this year and past experiences make us feel that we will be able leaders as Seniors.

We are proud to say our class advisors this year were Mrs. Melo and Mr. Ross.

Many of our class members took part in most of the activities such as football, basketball, band, and G. A. A. We also had quite a few members on the White and Gold staff.

We are looking forward to being upperclassmen next year.

The first thing we did was to elect class officers and the following were elected: President, Wendy Haines; Vice President, Louise McCoy; Secretary, Janet Curti; Treasurer, Dale Haines.

The class of '57 was very nicely welcomed to Mount Shasta High School by an initiation from the Sophomores which was enjoyed by all.

We got off to a good start by winning $10.00 from the P.T.A. membership drive for our treasury.

Bear Growls and Radio Program

This year the Junior Class is so large, it has had to be divided when putting out the "Bear Growls" and doing the radio program.

The radio program was under the direction of Mrs. Astmann and was on the air every Friday morning from 11:45 to 12:00, over KWSD.

The "Bear Growls" came out once a month and was under the supervision of Mrs. Melo.

There were four members in C.S.F. this year. They were Yvonne Brown, Gary Price, Phil Huntingdon and JoAnn Thebolt. Their advisor was Mr. Robert B. Manley

The requirements for C.S.F. were as follows: A total of 10 points a semester. These points were given for both solid and non-solid subjects, with a total of 3 points for A's and 1 for B's for solid subjects and 1 point for A's and 1/2 point for B's for non-solid subjects

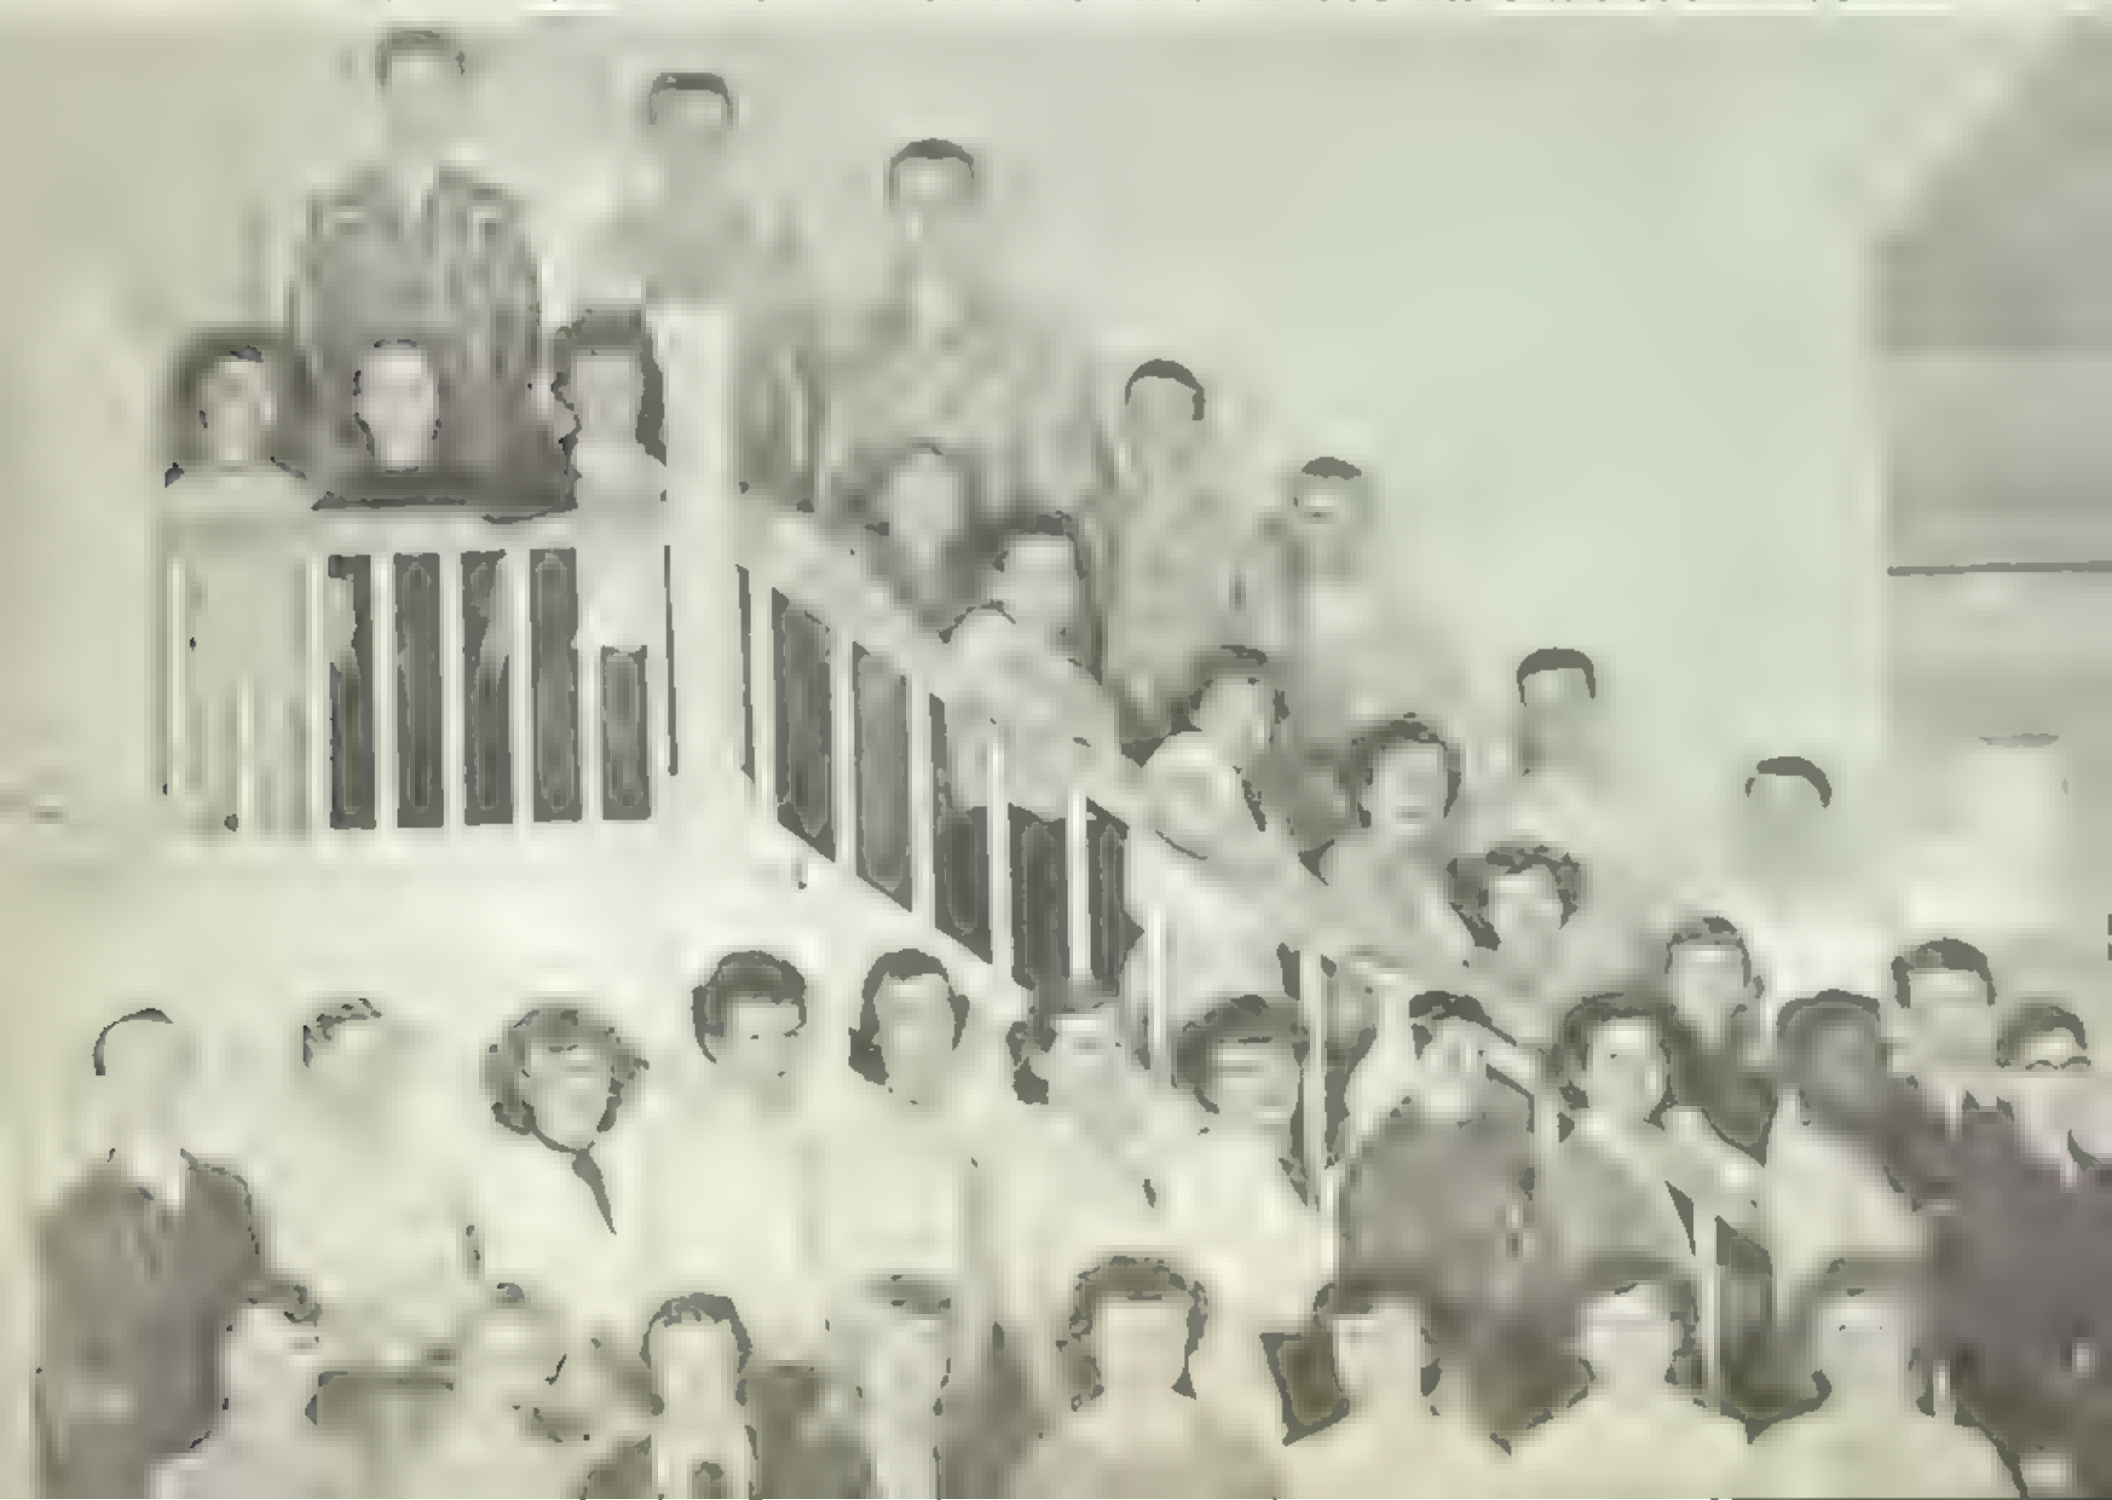

HONOR STUDENTS

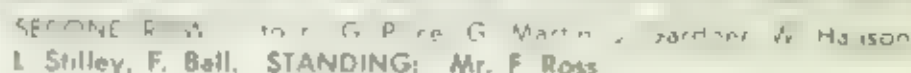

This year we were introduced to a new honor system. To be considered as an honor student you had to have a 2.1 average with A's counting three points, "B's" counting two, "C's" counting one, "D's" and "F's" counting nothing

The students belonging to this society had to have ability, interest, and good study habits. This year's advisor was Mr. Manley.

BAND

The band started a very successful year with new uniforms donated by the P.T.A., merchants and local people of Mt. Shasta. The band this year was considerably larger than in former years. It showed promise of maintaining former honors and standings at the various festivals. In addition to the festivals we presented the traditional Spring Concert and several exchange concerts with other schools. Under the patient direction of Mr. Day we made progress toward being a finer organization.

Twirlers

The band held its annual election of majorettes. The following were selected: Carol Minoletti as head majorette, Ardith Stansbury, Marcia Day, Arlene Bianchi and Nadine Lark as twirlers.

They have accompanied the band on several occasions and they are looking forward to the Music Festival in Sacramento this spring.

Drill Team

The Mount Shasta High School Drill Team, under the direction of Mr. Day and the Majorette, Nadine Lark, gained a reputation of an organization of good showmanship and of meritorious talent.

They marched in every parade of summer and at almost every home basketball game this past year.

BLOCK "S"

At the end of the 1953 season the Block "S" Society held its annual banquet and initiation for new members at the Mt. Shasta High School

The Block "S" Society elected new officers for 1953 and 1954. Those installed were: Jerry Vandiver, President; Jim Chambers, Vice President; and Gary Price, Secretary.

The purpose of the Block "S" Society is to improve athletics in the school, develop sportsmanship, provide a social organization for the athletes of the school and to present awards to students who have earned them.

Before a student may join this society he must earn a full Block "S" in inter-scholastic competition.

There were twenty-seven rough and ready football players this year to start off a very successful year. Under the able coaching of Coach Buhler, we were able to win four out of the five league games we played

We wish to express our thanks to Coach Buhler for all the hard hours he spent with us to make us a better team

The scores for the games were as follows:

Mount Shasta	-	-	30	Etna	-	-	0
Mount Shasta	-	-	18	Happy Camp	-	-	32
Mount Shasta	-	-	41	Fort Jones	-	-	0
Mount Shasta	-	-	37	Butte Valley	-	-	19
Mount Shasta	-	-	48	McCloud	-	-	31

"A" BASKETBALL

This year's "A" Team had only three returning Lettermen, but a good group of "B's" and strong reserves came up from 1953. The team had a lot of height and "shooting ability," and showed sharp defense and fine sportsmanship in all the games.

The team won three games and lost two, both very close, one to Weed by two points and one to Dunsmuir by two points. High point man in five games was Jerry Vandiver with 84 points.

The scores were as follows:

Mount Shasta	-	-	51	Weed	-	-	-	53
Mount Shasta	-	-	63	Dunsmuir	-	-	-	65
Mount Shasta	-	-	66	Fort Jones	-	-	-	37

TRACK

The Mount Shasta High School Track Team traveled to Yreka for two practice meets, then to the County Meet at Butte Valley. We also participated in the Northern California Semi-finals and some of the boys qualified to go on to the Northern California Finals at Chico.

We wish to express our thanks to Coach Lansbury for his patience and excellent coaching.

BASEBALL

Last year's baseball team consisted of eleven members. They worked very hard training after school and during their physical education classes. The scores were as follows:

Mount Shasta	-	-	2	Fort Jones	-	-	3
Mount Shasta	-	-	3	Happy Camp	-	-	4
Mount Shasta	-	-	9	Butte Valley	-	-	5

TENNIS

The Tennis Club consisted of sixteen members. We worked very hard, practicing whenever we could.

We went to McCloud to have a tennis meet but did not take any of the honors.

We are looking forward to the County Tennis Meet in the spring. Our coach was Mr. Graves.

G. A. A.

The G.A.A. held its first meeting and elected officers. They were: Dixie Ceccato, President; Joan Hogan, Vice President; and Arlene Bianchi, Secretary-Treasurer. After this first election our Vice President moved and Sandra Tracy was elected to her position.

The G.A.A. joined the Girls' League to sponsor the Christmas Ball. We also sponsored the Gingham Gals Gallop which is held annually.

This organization gives the girls a chance to prove their athletic ability as well as sportsmanship. We held our G.A.A. games at noon. For each game we played we received points and at the end of the year we were presented with letters. We had a very successful and enjoyable year.

P.S.: We also welcomed a new sponsor this year, Mrs. Jean Floratos, without whose help and guidance we could not have enjoyed so many activities. We wish to express our deepest appreciation for all the help she has given us.

F. H. A.

There were seventeen members in the F.H.A. this past year. Their sponsor was Mrs. Mullendore.

The purpose of the F.H.A. is to promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking, to emphasize the importance of worthy home membership, to encourage democracy in home and community life, to work for good home and family life for all, to promote international good will, to foster the development of creative leadership in home and community life, to provide wholesome individual and group recreation, and to further interest in home economics.

The F.H.A. is a growing organization to which every girl should belong.

CADETS

The Mount Shasta Cadets met daily at the new armory during 5th period. Although our unit was small this year compared to what is has been in the past we received much drill and classroom instruction, including map reading, first aid, rifle and heavy weapon instruction, and squad and platoon drill. Our former Company Commander, Philip Huntingdon, was promoted to Captain, and, because of the size of our unit, was put on a detached officers list. First Lieutenant John Colombero then took over the Company Commander's position.

Major Thomas Driver was in charge of the unit.

Mike and Key

A new organization has been added to Mount Shasta High School. Called the "Mike and Key Club," it is composed of amateur radio enthusiasts, also known as "Hams," in the student body. The club came into life in the fall of 1952, when a sufficient number of students showed interest in amateur radio. Mr. Graves, our advisor, then presented the idea of forming a club to the students; it was received enthusiastically.

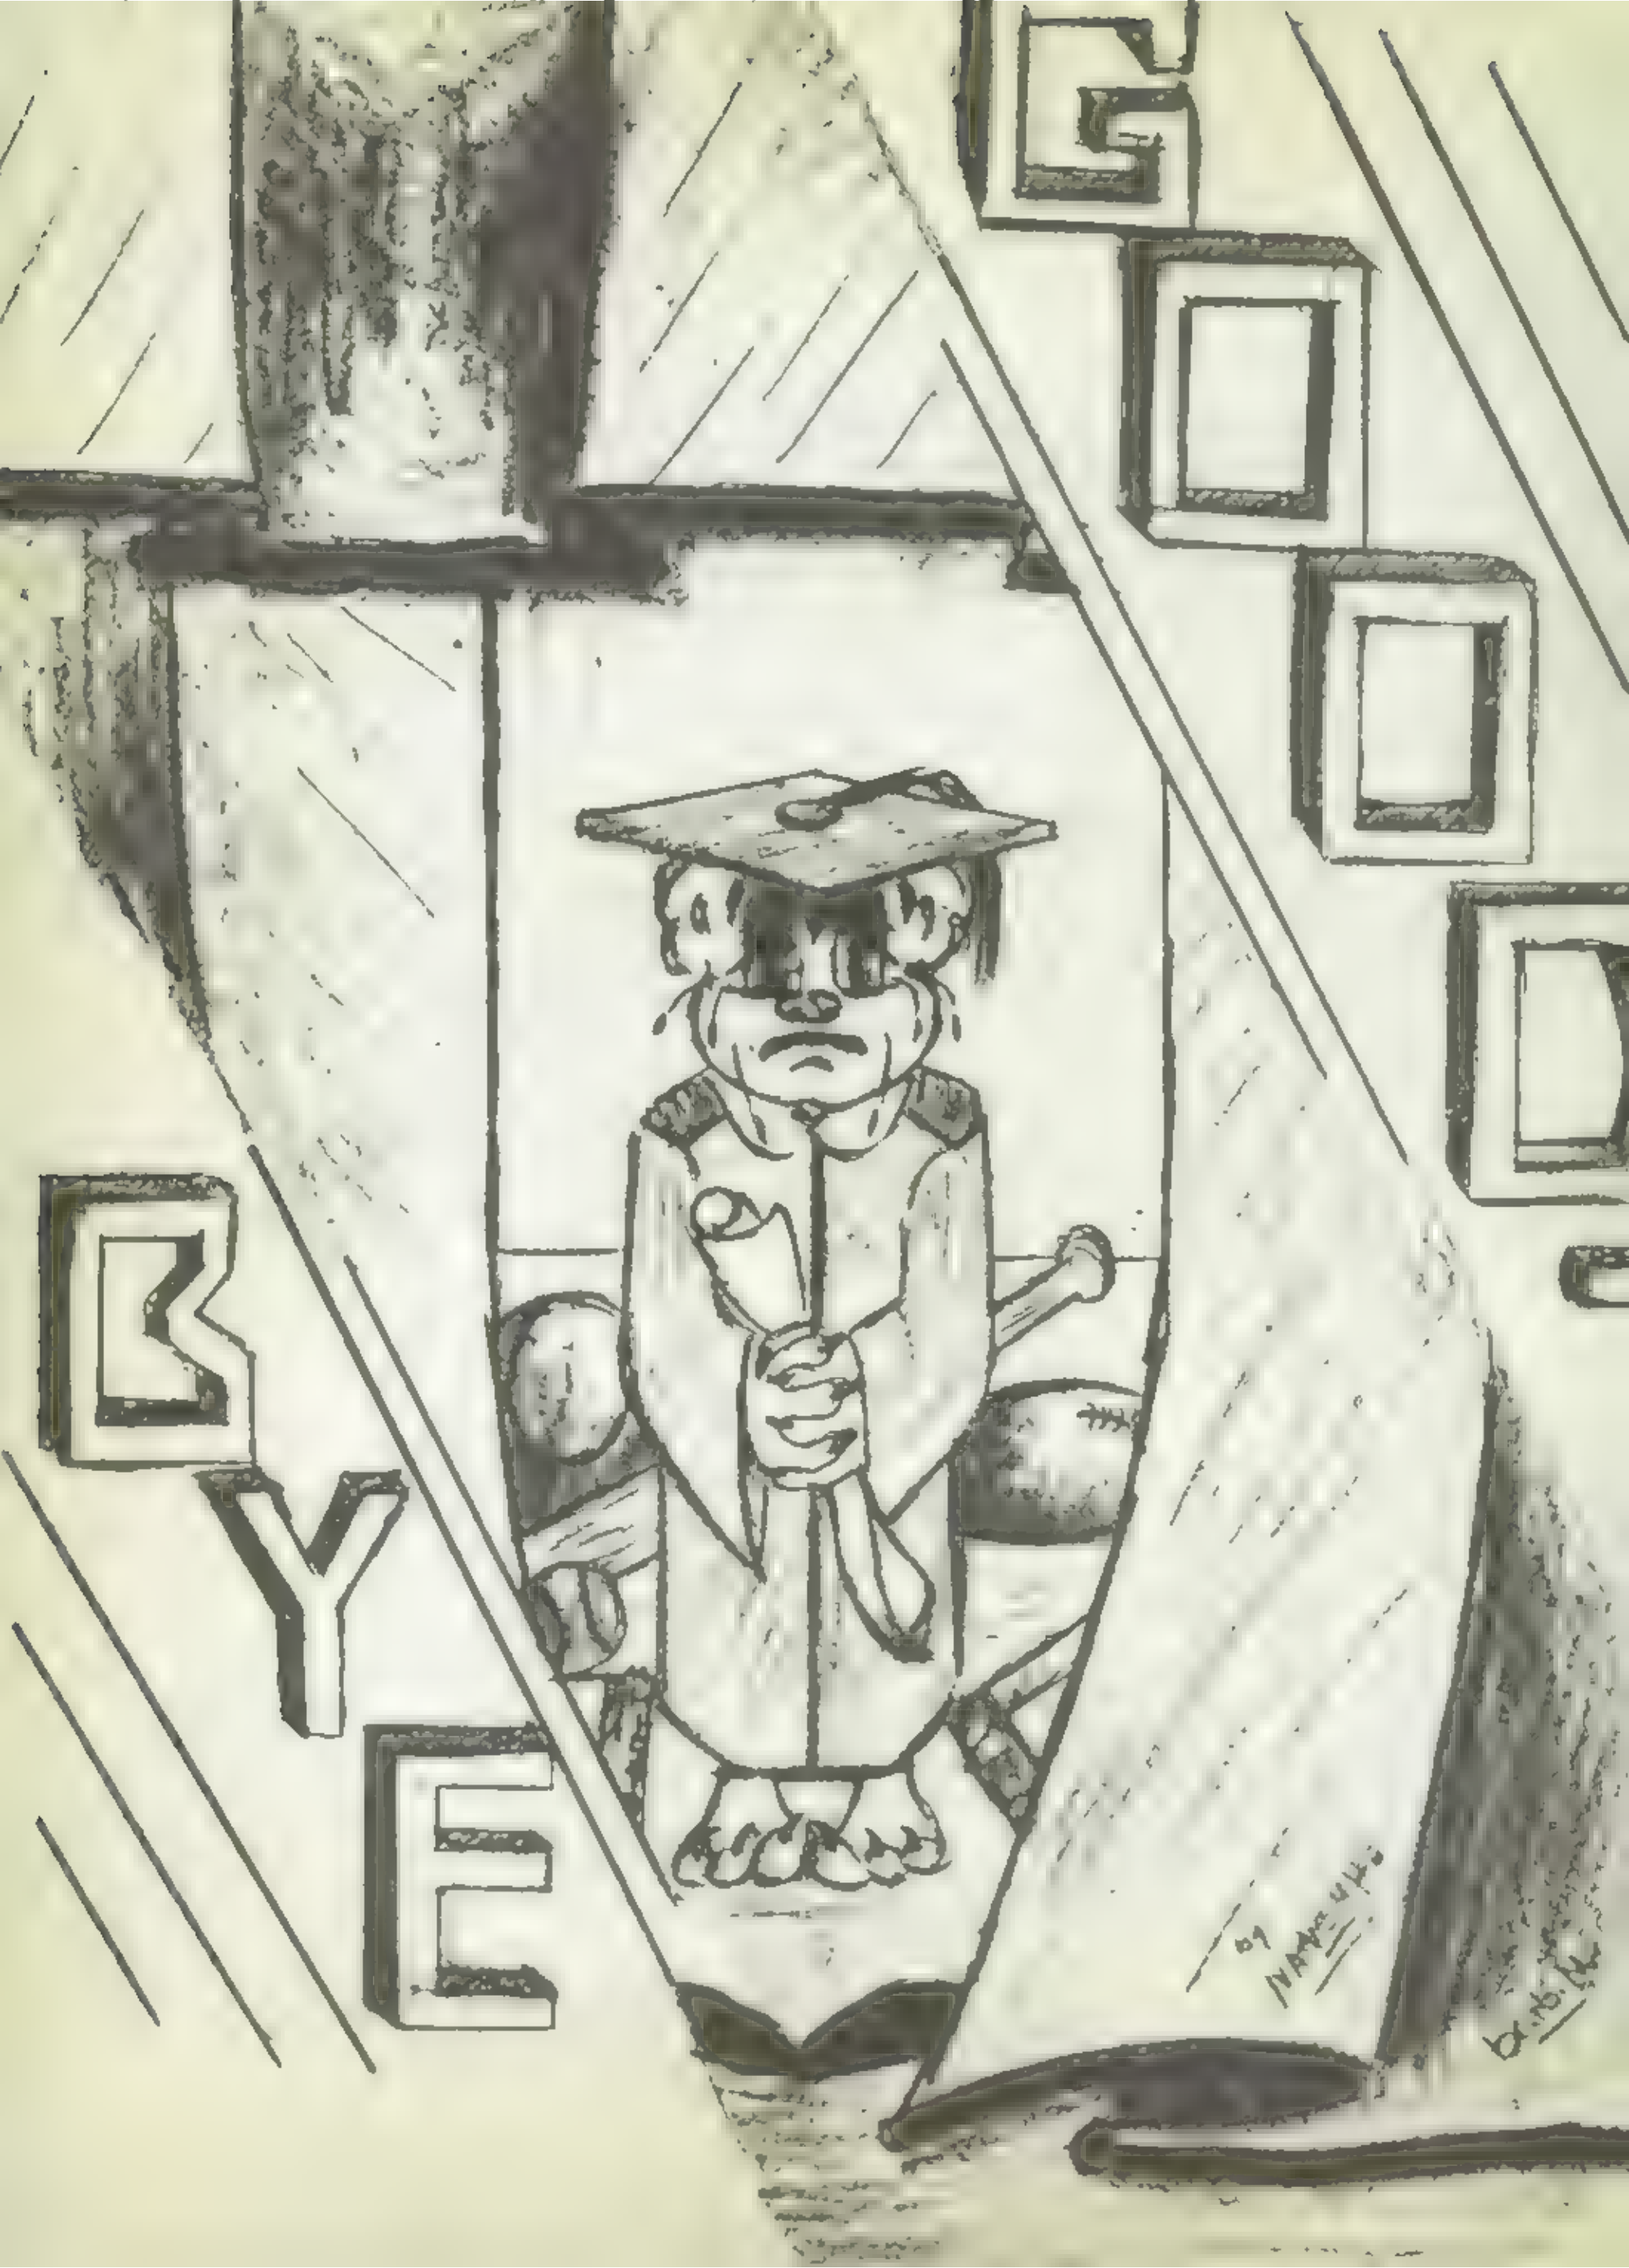

A committee to draft a constitution was appointed and officers were elected. Those elected were: Gary Price, President, Edwin Neimi, Vice President; and Irving Astmann, Secretary-Treasurer. We then settled down to business. Code and radio theory classes were held once a week, and business meetings once a month. A main aim of the club is to help its members obtain an amateur radio license.

Just before school opened this fall we obtained a station license, issued to the club with Mr. Graves as trustee. This license lets us operate a complete station under the regulations established by the Federal Communications Commission. The call letters issued to us are K6CDQ, which can be heard on the amateur bands regularly.

NOT JUST ONE WORLD!

It's not just one world. It is composed of many differing spheres—politics, finance, women's interests, humour, sports and many others.

But this many-faceted world comes together as a whole through the newspaper—the fast-stepping record of current history.

Just as your history book brings you the record of the ages, the daily newspaper brings you the happenings of the hour as reported by alert reporters and pictured by skilled photographers "on the spot" anywhere in the world.

And the San Francisco Examiner combines alertness with complete coverage to give its readers the best available, most reliable and up-to-the-minute document of CURRENT HISTORY.

READ THE EXAMINER AND MEET THE WORLDS!

"We all declare for liberty; but in using the same word we do not all mean the same thing. With some the word liberty may mean for each man to do as he pleases with himself and the product of his labor, while with others the same word may mean for some men to do as they please with other men, and the product of other men's labor. Here are two, not only different, but incompatible things called by the same name, liberty . . . Plainly the sheep and wolf are not agreed upon a definition of the word liberty . . ."

*Bill
I have been and I am not in the school with some more practice and I can do it. I can do it, but I can't do it. I can't do it.

Autographs

Will you please send me a copy of the book on the history of the United States. I have not a copy of it and I am very much interested in it.
I am, Sir, very truly yours,
J. M. Smith

Autographs

To a swell
kid and a fellow freshman. Best of luck in your next three years and afterwards. Hope to see you again next year. Sorry I am 29

His Bill
To a good kid who good will make always good in your studies
Good luck,
Yail Wright
, 57

To a swell guy, who
I wish the best of luck to in your future years. I'll see you next year.
